SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

I'm passionate about technology, problem-solving, and all things fantasy—from Star Wars to Tolkien. After nearly nine years abroad, I transitioned into software development and found what truly drives me. For the past two years, I've been helping others grow as developers while continuing to sharpen my own skills—guiding projects, reviewing code, and teaching full-stack fundamentals. I thrive on writing clean, efficient code, learning new technologies, and bringing ideas to life through programming.
